SUMMARY

The project aims to encourage a change in fathers' behaviour in order to give women the opportunity to reconcile motherhood and work. Childcare and family management are almost always the sole responsibility of women/mothers.

The aim is therefore to raise fathers' awareness and understanding of the importance of their role in this area so as to rebalance the tasks and responsibilities within the family on both parents.

Fathers' awareness will be raised through a series of training activities: including a mobility to Finland, a country that attaches great importance to this issue, where it will be possible to share the experiences of Finnish fathers; participants will be able to understand the needs of the woman/mother in the pre- to post-natal period; and the activities for fathers are aimed at making fathers understand how to manage the needs of children in the early years in order to be personally responsible for them.

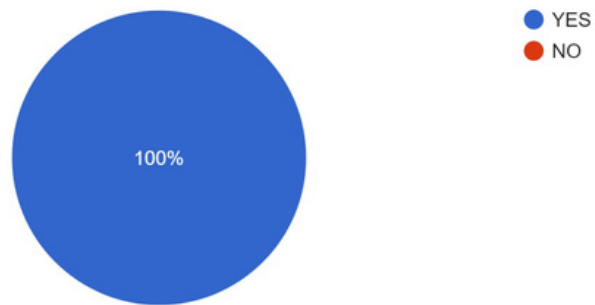

The results to be achieved concern the change in the way fathers view their role within the family.

Through targeted questionnaires it will be possible to assess the learning of the basics and the most correct behaviour in certain circumstances and situations that arise in everyday life.
